Mass Chest X-rays Start Here

JUNIOR AND SENIORS of Washington C. H. High School (above) start the 8-day mass chest X-ray program here as they enter the mobile unit stationed on the Central School grounds Wednesday. Before the unit leaves, X-rays will have been made in the war on tuberculosis for more than 2,000 individuals. The students and teachers in the county schools are to be X-rayed Thursday. After that the unit is to go to 11 different industrial plants. Miss Gretchen Darlington, Health Department nurse, and Technician Frank Engberg are standing in the door at left, and Technician Chester Pullman is in door at right. Lined up (from door back), are Dick Waters, Richard McCarty, Nancy James, Dianne Elliott, Jane Washburn, Dinah Davis, Paula Sperry, Jim Anderson, Harold Allen, Dean Bonecutter, Howard Gardner and Dick Blessing. A mass chest X-ray program that is expected to take in at least 2,000 individuals got under way on the Central School grounds (Paint Street side) Wednesday morning.

It is a part of the war being waged against tuberculosis through the cooperative efforts of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, the Fayette County Health Department and the state Department of Health. The mobile X-ray unit sent here by the state Department of Health is to remain in Washington C. H. for eight days.

Before it leaves, nearly 600 junior and senior high school students of city and county, school teachers and employees, more than 1,000 employees in 11 industries and an estimated number of the general public will have been X-rayed, Paul Strevey, the executive-secretary of the Tuberculosis and Health Association here estimated.

On the first day the juniors and seniors of the Washington C. H. High School, all of the teachers, school lunch personnel, office personnel, janitors, engineers, custodians and bus drivers went through the unit.

Thursday, the same coverage is to be given for the four county high schools and all the elementary schools in the county system.

FROM THE SCHOOLS, the unit is to start Friday making its rounds of the industrial concerns. Five days are to be devoted to that. It is to go to the Brown & Brockmeyer, Morton Show Case Co., P. Hagerty Shoe Co., Record-Herald, Pennington Bakers, Cudahy Packing Co., Arco, Coffman Stair Co., Klever, Mortuary Supply Co. and the National Cash Register Co.

Wednesday has been set aside for the general public. The unit is to be placed on Court Street in front of the Court House all day. There X-rays will be taken on a first-come-first-served basis.

There is no charge for the service; much of the expense is met with funds from the Tuberculosis and Health Association's annual Christmas Seal Sale.

With the unit are two specially trained technicians. Three nurses from the county Health Department, Miss Gretchen Darlington, Mrs. Robert Wentjes and Mrs. Phyllis Richards, are assisting them.

When the 8-day X-raying program is completed, reports will be made direct to those X-rayed, Strevey said. A copy also will be sent to the Health Department here for its files.

Reports cannot logically be expected in less than three weeks, he added.

New Czech Envoy To Be Selected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Truman is expected soon to name a new envoy to Communist Czechoslovakia to succeed Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs.

Officials expect the post will go to George Wadsworth, former ambassador to Turkey. Briggs returned recently from Prague and is believed slated for transfer to South Korea as ambassador.

Oil Week Set

COLUMBUS, Oct. 8.—Gov. Frank J. Lausche Tuesday proclaimed Oct. 12-18 as Ohio Oil Progress Week.

3 Ohio Fishing Lakes Given Go-Ahead For Rebuilding Job

COLUMBUS, Oct. 8.—(P)—The Ohio Wildlife Council has committed itself to rebuild three fishing lake dams, two of which were cut in 1950 because of inadequate capacity and another which never has been closed. A fourth will be redesigned and rebuilt.

A. W. Marion, director of the Department of Natural Resources, said Wednesday the dams are:

Hocking County Lake; plans to be ready for bid-letting within 30 days. The dam was cut to prevent damage downstream.

Hargus Creek, Pickaway County; plans and specifications to be ready by Oct. 15. Because the spillway was inadequate, the dam never was closed.

Knox County Lake; plans and specifications to be ready by Oct.

82 KILLED NEAR LONDON IN TRIPLE TRAIN CRASH

Truman, Ike Continue Exchanging Bitter Jabs During Campaign Tours

General's Slam-Bang Attack Carried Deep Into California

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 8.—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower drove his slam-bang attack against the administration and President Truman to California Wednesday, hoping to win its 32 electoral votes.

There were indications that he will continue to personally fight back at criticisms thrown at him by Truman.

He struck back Tuesday night at Democratic accusations that he's now trying to disclaim responsibility for foreign policies that he helped to decide. Truman has said Eisenhower periled the United States by not sizing up the Russian threat after the war.

Eisenhower answered that in Eugene, Ore., when he said:

"As you know, ladies and gentlemen, through this region another (Truman's) campaign train preceded mine some time back. From its back platform, many red hot salvos were loosed at me.

"NOW ONE OF the charges made was that in 1945 I expressed the hope and belief that Russia wanted to establish a workable friendship with us. I was testifying for increased Army strength. I proposed that we hope for the best and be prepared for the worst.

"Now, I think if we had not pursued such a policy at that time, today in view of the chaos in which the world exists, we would be terribly blaming ourselves for not having done our best. Yet from the back platform of a campaign train came the charge that because of that hope and that belief I had done much to destroy the safety of my country.

"And that charge came from the very same man who only three years later, remember, in 1948, came to this town, and said:

"I like old Uncle Joe Stalin. Joe is a decent fellow. But the people that run the government won't let him be as decent as he would like to be."

Truman told an audience in Colorado Tuesday Eisenhower had "betrayed every principle about our foreign policy and our national defense that I thought he believed in."

Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Eisenhower's campaign manager, replied that Truman "betrays himself and his office by slandering the man who saved the Allied cause and his country." But Eisenhower remained silent.

EISENHOWER was shown a dispatch Tuesday quoting Truman as saying that the GOP candidate "has betrayed his principles by publicly endorsing every Republican candidate in the country, regardless of whether that man is the blackest of reactionaries, a die-hard isolationist or even a moral scoundrel."

Eisenhower flushed and exclaimed: "Isn't that something!" but he refused to say anything further.

Roks Capture Peak In Bayonet Battle

SEOUL, Oct. 8.—(P)—South Korean infantrymen fighting with bayonets Wednesday recaptured a vital shell-cratered peak overlooking the ancient invasion route to Seoul in a brutal battle that has raged since Monday night.

A front line officer said the Korean troops cut a Chinese battalion of 700 men down to 150 in recapturing the crest of White Horse Hill.

The peak, main objective of the biggest Communist attack in a year, has changed hands more than a dozen times as both sides threw tanks, artillery and men into the raging battle.

A few hours earlier the Chinese recklessly charged through an Allied artillery barrage and captured the crest. Then they hit the Korean defenders on the South slope but the Allies held fast.

Fighting was only slightly less bitter elsewhere along the front as the big Red offensive moved into its third day.

Allied warplanes rocketed overhead, plastering Red lines directly behind the front.

As the bitter warfare blazed with new vigor there was little sign at the truce talks in Panmunjom that an armistice would be reached soon.

In fact, the Allies Wednesday indefinitely postponed negotiations and bluntly told the Reds the next move was up to them.

THE POSTPONEMENT was taken until the Communists either accept an Allied proposal for settling the stalemate over prisoner of war exchange or make "a constructive proposal of their own."

What may prove to be the final break in the talks, started 15 months ago, resulted from a deadlock in the knotty problem of prisoner of war exchange, last unresolved item on the agenda.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied negotiator, said the Allied team would return to the truce site any time the Reds were ready to accept one of three alter-

OMAHA, Oct. 8.—(P)—President Truman, fresh and peppery despite the grind, pushed his "give 'em hell" campaign into the Midwestern farm belt Wednesday after his bitterest attack on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Reporters thought Truman was as grim as they'd ever seen him in his assault on Eisenhower. Truman is making a coast-to-coast tour in behalf of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate.

Tuesday night in Denver, Truman said that his argument that it would be a mistake "to send a professional military man to the White House" was supported by Eisenhower's own language of four years ago.

He quoted the general as saying in 1948, in rejecting suggestions of a nomination, that nothing at that time qualified for political life a man who has "spent his adult years in the military forces."

And, added the President, "that statement is as true today as it was then."

HE DECLARED that it would be "a great mistake to send a professional military man to the White House."

Eisenhower removed himself from presidential consideration in 1948 in a letter to a New Hampshire booster, Leonard V. Finder, publisher of the Manchester Evening Leader.

"It is my conviction that the necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained when life-long professional soldiers, in the absence of some obvious and overriding reason, abstain from seeking high political office."

"Nothing in the international or domestic situation especially qualifies for the most important office in the world a man whose adult years have been spent in the country's military forces. At least this is true in my case."

The President accused Eisenhower of betraying life-long principles and his best friends by supporting what he called such "moral pigmies" as Republican Sens. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin and William E. Jenner of Indiana.

Truman admitted that he once considered Eisenhower qualified for the presidency and went on to say that "I am now convinced that I was absolutely wrong."

He contended that Eisenhower betrayed his principles and supporters by adopting "reactionary" views on foreign policy and national defense.

He accused Eisenhower of declaring support for every Republican candidate "whether that man is the blackest of reactionaries, a die-hard isolationist, or even a moral scoundrel."

Truman contended Eisenhower was trying to win votes "by playing upon the casualties and sacrifices in Korea."

Adlai Raps McCarthy, Hurls New Challenge At Eisenhower

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 8.—(P)—Adlai E. Stevenson carried his presidential campaign into the Wisconsin bailiwick of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy Wednesday with the assertion that the "voice of the accuser" must not still others in the land.

The Democratic nominee geared up a fresh onslaught on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Republican record on domestic and foreign policies.

Stevenson was preparing to sail into Eisenhower as representing only a mouthpiece for Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in a major address in Milwaukee Wednesday night.

He picked McCarthy, without naming the senator in the advance text handed to newsmen, as the object for attack in a speech prepared for a University of Wisconsin Field House audience.

Declaring that "the pillorying of the innocent has caused the wise to stammer and the timid to retreat," the Illinois governor left no doubt he was aiming at McCarthy when he asserted:

"I HOPE the time will never come in America when charges are taken as the equivalent of facts, when suspicions are confused with certainties and when the voice of the accuser stills every other voice in the land."

Stevenson has chided Eisenhower for supporting McCarthy's bid for reelection, despite the Wisconsin senator's attack on the patriotism of Gen. George C. Marshall, the Republican nominee's old friend.

Eisenhower has said that while he will support all of the Republican nominees for Congress, including McCarthy, he does not condone "besmirching the reputation of any innocent man or condemning by loose association."

Democrats contend McCarthy has done just that. And Stevenson told an enthusiastic, overflowed audience in Detroit's 4,500-seat Masonic Temple Tuesday night that McCarthy had failed to turn up a single Communist with "wild and reckless" charges.

"Catching real Communist agents, like killing poisonous snakes or tigers, is not a job for amateurs or children, especially noisy ones," he said. "It is a job for professionals who know their business and their adversaries."

In an obvious reference what he regards as GOP campaign tactics, he declared:

"Some, perhaps, find it politically profitable to cultivate the vineyards of anxiety. I would warn them lest they reap the grapes of wrath."

"I BELIEVE that our people have begun to tire of hearing how weak they are, how feeble is their faith, how urgent it is to limit and surrender their freedom. I would say: Enough of this weakness and cowardice."

In his Detroit speech, Stevenson challenged Eisenhower to break what he called the Republican candidate's "thunderous silence" on how he would solve the Communist infiltration problem.

"I think we are entitled to ask: Is the Republican candidate seriously interested in trying to root out Communists out of the government or is he only interested in scaring the American people to get the Old Guard in," he said.

Many Injured As Engine Hits Station Crowd

English Accident Comes In Morning Rush Of Commuters

HARROW, England, Oct. 8.—(P)—Two collisions involving three trains killed at least 82 persons here Wednesday and piled wooden coaches 50 feet high in a mass of wreckage. Some of the dead were in the coaches; others were mowed down as they waited on a station platform.

Officials of the government-operated railways said the death toll may top 120. More than 130 persons were treated at hospitals and hundreds received first aid.

Commuters standing on the Harrow platform were mowed down as if by a giant scythe when the third train's locomotive left the rails and plowed into two trains already wrecked.

The death toll of 81 was announced almost eight hours after the three-way collision. At that time three coaches under the main bulk of the wreckage were still to be reached by rescue workers. The crash piled coach on coach in a 50-foot heap of wreckage.

THE COLLISION involved two expresses and a commuter train. Many of the victims had been waiting at the station of this Middlesex village, 10 miles from London.

People standing on the platform were cut down as a locomotive of the London-Manchester express screeched from the tracks and sheared through the waiting crowd. Within minutes this corner of Harrow looked like a burned-out silhouette of wartime London.

A suburban train standing in the station first was hit from behind by an express bound for London from Scotland.

Then, as the wreckage of this collision splattered the area, the London-Manchester express roared up from behind and plowed into the piled up coaches.

Besides the dead accounted for by police, 70 persons were in hospitals and 41 persons had been sent home after treatment.

It was Britain's worst train wreck in 37 years. A dozen coaches were in a pile of wreckage in the heart of the Harrow station.

The crash occurred only three miles from headquarters of the U. S. Eighth Air Force at South Ruislip. Few airmen living there normally use the trains involved. No reports had been received that any of them were among the dead or injured.

AN AMERICAN passport was found in a wrecked car, but police declined to give the owner's name pending a check of the dead and injured.

The overhead bridge connecting the northbound and southbound station platforms was ripped down on the wreckage.

Ambulances and doctors rushed from all main communities in Middlesex County and from Northwest London. All available ambulances were called out and moving vans and other trucks were pressed into service to help carry the injured to hospitals.

Volunteer rescue workers clamped at the wreckage with their bare hands to remove victims.

Bodies of the dead were lined up alongside the tracks. One passenger likened the scene to that of a wartime air raid. Clouds of burning steam rolled through the battered coaches, adding to the panic of passengers trying to grope their way to safety.

A flying chunk of debris smashed the station clock, fixing the exact time of the crash—8:19 a. m.

Sheriff's Farm Hides Moonshine

HODGENVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—(P)—Somebody played a dirty trick on Wayne County Sheriff Joe Burnett. A 220-gallon moonshine still was set up on the sheriff's farm, located about 10 miles northeast of here. The sheriff and his tenant, Earl West, notified federal officers here that the still, one of the largest ever discovered in Lurie County, of which Hodgenville is the county seat, had been found in a heavily wooded ravine in a remote section of the farm.

Nixon Warns Ohioans Trumanites Endanger U. S., Must Be Evicted

LIMA, Oct. 8.—(P)—Sen. Richard M. Nixon warned Wednesday this nation is in danger, but predicted many Democrats will join Republicans at the polls to "throw the Trumanites out of Washington."

"They will put loyalty to country above loyalty to party," the GOP vice presidential candidate predicted in whistle stop talks in Lima and Wapakoneta at the start of his second day's swing through politically doubtful Ohio.

Police estimated a crowd of 1,500 turned out for the 8:30 a. m. talk in Lima and 2,300 in Wapakoneta at 9:25. The talks were made from the rear platform of Nixon's special campaign train.

Nixon said he based his prediction on the "biggest crowd in American political history" he reported were turning out for the Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, now on a whistlestop tour of the West.

"REPUBLICANS and also Democrats will vote by the millions to throw the Truman Democrats—there's a difference—out of Washington," Nixon said and the crowd cheered.

Rolling south from Wapakoneta, Nixon will give talks in Sidney, Bellefontaine, Lancaster, Logan and Athens.

Only the election of Eisenhower will save the nation, Nixon insisted.

He said Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson have taken over the two top spots in the Democratic election campaign. He relegated the Democratic presidential nominee, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, to third place on the ticket.

Nixon said Stevenson approved of a Truman-Acheson scheme to saddle Eisenhower with the blame for major administration mistakes in the hope of keeping the Democrats in power.

But Nixon predicted it wouldn't stick and fool the voters next Nov. 4.

In Canton, Nixon addressed a near-capacity crowd in the 6,000-seat Memorial Hall. A police-estimated crowd of 750 greeted the senator on his arrival at the railroad station.

Earlier, Nixon gave rear-platform talks in Coshocton, Steubenville, Dennison, Newark and Zanesville. Fire Chief Walt Weaver estimated 6,000 persons surrounded Nixon's train in Coshocton.

On his swing through the state's Eastern coal-mining area, Nixon said the way to defeat Communism "without a war is to win the battle going on for the minds and hearts of the people. It's a spiritual and moral offensive. You've got to get the crooks out of Washington. Eisenhower will restore sound morals."

Hearst Estate Near $56½ million

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—(P)—William Randolph Hearst's estate has been appraised at $49,499,214 on the basis of assets listed so far, but attorneys indicate that still other assets will boost the gross value to $56½ million.

The publisher died Aug. 14, 1951, at the age of 88. He left most of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Millie V. Hearst, their five sons and charitable foundations.

Publisher Dies

HAMILTON, Oct. 8.—(P)—Homer Gard, 86, publisher of the Hamilton Journal News, died here Wednesday morning. He was one of the oldest charter members of the Associated Press.

Old Torchlight Parade To Get Modern Twist

CIRCLEVILLE, Oct. 8.—(P)—Circleville will resurrect the political torchlight parade of a couple of generations ago on election eve, but with a new twist—both parties will be in on it.

The parade, complete with torches (red fire fuses), a band and a drum and bugle corps, is being endorsed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Boy Scouts as a part of a get-out-the-vote campaign.

Political speeches? Each party has been asked to designate one person to give a five-minute speech after the parade—on "Why We Should Vote."

Any candidate who cares to attend is invited, but not make a speech. He can speak his piece only with silent signs or banners.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Save all the buckeyes you find. That's the plea that is going out by the Fayette County Sesquicentennial headquarters.

It's being done all over the state, Ralph R. Pnn, the county chairman said; so Fayette Countians will have plenty of company for the buckeye hunt.

Just in case you have forgotten, Ohio is known as the Buckeye State. That is because of the number of buckeye trees that grow throughout the state.

The Sesqui committee, both county and state, wants the buckeyes to give to visitors from other states when Ohio celebrates its 150th birthday as a state. They are considered suitable souvenirs because they not only are symbols of Ohio but also because they will last for years.

Penn said the committee for handling the buckeye collection and distribution had not been named yet, and, for that reason, he suggested that everyone who can gather a few of them just put them away for safekeeping until a committee is named to take them and put them in storage for next year.

Legion Meeting Thursday Night

'Important Business'
Up, Commander Says

What were described by Commander William Stoughton as "some important matters of business" are on the agenda for Thursday night's regular meeting of the Paul H. Hughey post of the American Legion.

The meeting to be held, as has long been the custom, is to start at 8 P. M. in the Legion Hall.

Hitting the high spots of the agenda, Commander Stoughton said an effort would be made to complete plans for the Legion's project of selling flags for display both at the homes and in front of places of business in the city.

This project was started some time ago after a survey showed so few flags being displayed on patriotic holidays. The survey also revealed that many of the flags, especially those used for display in the business districts, were getting too much the worse for wear that the store owners had hesitated to put them out.

PLANS ALSO ARE to be made for holding a reception for Father Richard Connelly, pastor of St. Columban's Catholic Church and state chaplain of the American Legion and its 40 and 8.

About 800 invitation are to be sent out for the reception, which is to be held Oct. 23, the commander said. Past commanders of the post make up the committee.

In addition, there is to be considerable discussion about ways and means for keeping the Legion Hall open in the evenings and reactivation of the Boy Scout troop the post has sponsored.

The Scout troop problem was discussed at special meeting Tuesday evening. Commander Stoughton said, and the conclusions arrived at then will be brought up at the full Legion meeting.

Records of the post show the membership has taken a sudden upswing recently; there was no explanation, unless it is the outlook for increased post activities, Stoughton said.

The commander emphasized that he and the other post officers and executive committee were "very anxious" to have good attendance at all of the meetings. "That is the way the post can get things done... the way it can mean more to the members and to the community," he said.

Mrs. E. C. Hyer Is Called By Death

Mrs. Flora Belle Hyer, 74, died at 4:25 P. M. Tuesday at her home on the Burnett-Perrill Road in Jasper Township, following a long illness.

Mrs. Hyer, who had lived in that community for 49 years, had been an invalid for 25 years. Her condition had been serious for the last three years.

Because of the many years she had lived in that community she had made many friends, in spite of her illness.

She was a member of McNair Memorial Presbyterian Church and of the Missionary Society and Circle Four of Grace Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband, E. C. Hyer; a son, Dana Hyer of Washington, C. H., and two daughters, Mrs. Theodore Irvin of Washington, C. H. and Mrs. Melvin Dawson of Springfield.

Funeral services are to be held at the residence at 2:30 P. M. Friday, and interment is to be in the Washington, C. H. Cemetery under the direction of the Gerstner Funeral Home.

Friends may call at the residence after 7 P. M. Wednesday.

Football Tickets For Hillsboro Game Now Available Here

No reserved seats will be available for the WHS Lion-Indian football game at Hillsboro, Friday night, but it will be possible to purchase general admission tickets here before the game.

This was announced Wednesday by Paul Pennington, president of the Boosters Club, and E. Wayne Titus, principal of Washington C. H. High School.

Pennington said he had called Principal Walter Shannon of Hillsboro High School Tuesday to try to reserve a block of tickets for Washington C. H. fans, but had been told that there are no reserved seats in the stands at Hillsboro. He said the effort to get them was "just a part of Boosters Club activities."

When told there would be no reserved seats, Pennington said, he asked if it would not be possible for the Washington C. H. fans to get general admission tickets here before they go in order to spare them standing in line at the ticket office at the game.

IT WAS ALONG this line, Prin. Titus said, that the plan to sell an unlimited number of general admission tickets here was worked out by the principals of the two schools.

The tickets are available now at the Gillen Drug Store on East Court Street.

Titus explained that arrangements had been, because of the short time left, to sell WHS general admission tickets here; they will be honored at Hillsboro, he said, under the plan. They are 75 cents each.

Student tickets, also general admission, are available at the high school at 30 cents each.

The Hillsboro stands have a capacity of about 1,500 it was said. The gate to this field is to be opened at 7 P. M., but Hillsboro authorities said they would have a special entrance for holders of tickets purchased here in advance.

Funeral Rites Friday For Harry H. Emerson

Funeral services for Harry H. Emerson will be held Friday at 1 P. M. at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. Clinton Swengel. Interment will be made in the family lot at Bainbridge.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 P. M. Wednesday.

Final Tribute Paid To Howard Cook

Funeral services for Howard W. Cook were conducted Tuesday at 2 P. M. at the Church of Christ in Christian Union on Maple Street in Jeffersonville by Rev. Russell Knisley, pastor of the Church of Christ in Christian Union of Gregg Street in Washington, C. H.

The minister read the Scripture, delivered the funeral sermon and read the poem, "Let Us Look."

The hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Just A Closer Walk With Thee," were sung by Mr. and Mrs. David Snyder, accompanied by Mrs. Bertha Dawes.

Snyder also read a prepared memorial tribute.

The pallbearers for the interment in Jeffersonville's Fairview Cemetery were Everett Blakeley, Frank Brown, Collins Cox, John A. Dunn, Marion Snyder and Frank Snyder, Jr.

U. S. Army Outfit Here Over Night

Some 200 officers and men of the 219 Signal Corps, U. S. Army, traveling in 46 trucks and jeeps, from Fort Meade, Md., to Fort Knox, Ky., spent Tuesday night at the Fairgrounds here.

The soldiers slept in the Merchant's Building, but some of the officers found lodging in motels.

The outfit left early Wednesday morning and was scheduled to reach Fort Knox during the day. Pvt. Clifford Bazil, with the outfit, was suffering from pneumonia when the troops arrived here, and after some difficulty was given treatment. He was first taken to Memorial Hospital, but then ordered to Fort Hays Hospital, Columbus.

He was moved in the Kirkpatrick ambulance, and indications were that the soldier was to be

Gov. K. Symons Is Rotary Guest Here Tuesday

Piqua Man Outlines Organization's High Purposes And Aims

It was "Governor's Day" Tuesday for the Washington Rotary Club.

Ken R. Symons, district governor, an insurance man of Piqua, was a visitor here and gave an excellent review of Rotary, past and present, and presented an inspirational view of what Rotarians might expect of their organizations in future.

For two hours before the regular luncheon meeting of club members, Governor Symons was in session at the Country Club with the officers and committee chairmen of the club, hearing reports of what the local club had been doing and about plans for the future.

At the regular meeting, after being presented by a former district governor, Colin Campbell, the present governor gave a carefully prepared address touching upon Rotary's principles, activities and objects. He declared that the "ideals of service as a basis for worthy enterprise are the background of Rotary objectives."

He declared that Rotary cannot stand still or recede from its present position, that it must go forward and that all plans of this huge international organization are pointed toward improving international understanding and relations as well as striving for the goal of high public and personal service in home communities.

At the close of his talk he asked for questions regarding Rotary's national activities and purposes; also, he sought questions which he might clear up on Rotary's regulations, constitution and by-laws.

THERE WERE MANY queries directed to the speaker, all of which he answered in a manner to give the impression that he not only was a student of Rotary purposes but had personally sought to follow the precepts laid down.

When he concluded, President Marilyn Riley asked past district governor Colin Campbell to make a response. He did so in a manner which must have been pleasing to the visiting district official because he told from experience of the problems which a district governor faced and how well Governor Symons was handling them.

President Riley also thanked the visiting speaker cordially and stated that the entire club membership hoped to see him return for future visits.

During the business session of the club, preliminary to the speaking program, President Riley announced that a tentative date of October 29 had been selected for the annual Halloween Rotary Ann-

Sailor From Here In Naval Hospital

Seaman William Ray Hanners is in the naval hospital on Kwajalein Island in the south Pacific recuperating from fractured back vertebra, according to a letter just received by his mother, Mrs. Cora Gillespie of near Jeffersonville.

Seaman William Ray Hanners

Mrs. Gillespie said she was uncertain just how her son had been injured, but added that she thought it might have been the result of boxing. She explained that the 180-pound 6-foot sailor had been doing some boxing while in the Navy.

She said that her son had told her in his letter that a specialist had come to Kwajalein to examine him and prescribe treatment. She has had no word from the Navy, however.

Ray Hanners, as he was known in school at Sedalia where he played basketball, enlisted when he was 16 years old, his mother said before finishing high school.

He entered the service Sept. 27, 1951, and has been on Kwajalein since last February. He took his boot training at the San Diego Naval Base.

dinner party. The date is subject to change.

Committees so far appointed for this event are: general program chairman, Stephen Brown; tickets, Howard Fogle; food, Edward Porter; Robert Green and Quincy Cheadle; decorations, Robert Lisk, Walter Patton, Joe Campbell and Don Wood; preparing programs, Sanford Lindsey and Dr. S. B. Smith. Birthday greetings were sung for Dr. I. L. Pumphrey, Edmond Woodmansee, W. W. Montgomery and Dr. S. B. Smith. They made the usual contributions to the club's youth fund.

The new student guest, Dick Waters, was introduced by Robert Lisk. The outgoing student guest, Jon Pensyl acquitted himself well in a brief spicy "thank you" talk.

Catholic Women Meet Thursday

More than 1,000 delegates and guests of the Council of Catholic Women from the 23 counties of the Diocese of Columbus are making plans to attend the Seventh Annual Convention, Thursday at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel, Columbus.

A Pontifical High Mass at 9:00 A. M. at St. Joseph's Cathedral will open the convention. Registration will begin at the hotel immediately following the mass. Workshops are scheduled for both the morning and afternoon sessions.

At 11:00 A. M., workshops are scheduled for religious activities, social action and family life.

At 1:30 P. M. workshops will be held on international relations, Catholic charities, officers of organizations and public relations, and at 4:00 P. M. for Parent-Teacher associations and adult education.

The speaker for the evening banquet beginning at 7 P. M. will be Dr. James M. O'Neill, distinguished author, scholar and lecturer.

All Catholic women of this area are invited to attend the various sessions of the convention.

Time For a Change If You Want The Answers

In Washington during the past week, the Senate Republican Policy Committee issued a report on "Secrecy in Government" under the present administration and its immediate predecessor.

In documenting its case, the committee pointed to the federal government's suppression of the Wedemeyer report on China, the 1944 Wallace report on China, the reports and documents dealing with the Katyn Forest massacre, and the president's enunciation of a determination to withhold such papers as he saw fit within his own absolute discretion.

In its conclusion, the report says: "During the past five years, the administration has gone through a process of almost complete moral and political degeneration. The collapse of China policy, the stumbling in Europe, the crazy extravagance in foreign aid, the onrush of Communism abroad, the perversion of the Department of Justice and numerous other executive agencies have brought the administration to a point which it will impose censorship on practically every move."

If anybody in America is curious to know lots of things that have been going on and which we have very little prospect for finding out under the New Deal and Fair Deal, his technique is easy: He must insist on a change of party and a new administration. That way he'll find out the answers.

Red Herrings?

A former member of the Communist Party, now expelled, has testified before a Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that there are or have recently been among the nation's school teachers at least 1,500 card carrying members of the Communist Party.

An official Communist Party report found back in 1941 claimed that there were large numbers of Communist members in the Teachers Union.

Without attempting in any way to infringe upon the processes of free thought, free speech, and freedom to teach liberal points of view, it must still be obvious that no one loyal to the Communist viewpoint can properly be permitted to teach youngsters in the American school system.

Such efforts cannot be tolerated in a Republic. Youngsters must not be exposed to propaganda of the insidious type taught by Communist teachers under the guise of public instruction.

Are these evidences of Red infiltration "Red herrings" of the type immortalized by our retiring president—or are they the warning signs of serious and impending danger?

The Love Of Home

Since prehistoric man lived in caves home has been civilization's foundation. As man improved his habitation he progressed both spiritually and economically.

A home of his own has been a universal dream since man first sought shelter from the elements with a roof over his head. Since the end of World War II more new homes have been erected in the United States than ever before in a similar period.

The home of today is as different from the dwelling of 50 years ago as the modern automobile is from the one-lunger. The smallest structures provide ample living space as a result of modern designing. The kitchen is as scientific as a factory, the heating plant functions automatically. Man's abode is a triumph of modern planning and construction.

Trellis Mae Sees A Ball Game

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(P)—Wilbur Peeble, America's average citizen, thought it was the break of a lifetime when an old friend gave him tickets to the World Series.

He wasn't so sure, however, when his wife said she wouldn't let him go to the big city without her. Wilbur knew Trellis Mae's knowledge of baseball consisted of a dim conviction that a batter was something you stirred up in a kitchen.

"I'll take you on one condition—that you don't bother me with a single question during the entire game," he said.

She agreed. But the day of the game Trellis Mae insisted he leave the hotel and accompany her on a shopping tour. They missed lunch and got to the ball park in the third inning.

"They oughtn't allow women," fumed Wilbur, as they sat down in their seats in the upper stand near the rightfield foul pole.

Trellis Mae turned her back on him and confided to a beefy, red-nosed Dodger fan next to her:

"My husband won't let me talk to him. Will you tell me what is the real object of this game?"

"Well, it's—it's to get the most runs," said the fan.

"What are they standing there for then? Why don't they all start running?"

As the fan's jaw dropped, Trellis Mae said, "When do they take their naps?"

"Naps?"

"Isn't that what those cute little white pillows are for?" she asked, pointing at the base bags. Next she wanted to know if it wouldn't dress up the game if they used lady umpires, then she scribbled a postcard saying, "Scenery wonderful—wish you were here," and demanded, "Where's the mailbox?"

The red nose of her neighbor turned a mottled blue.

Bored, Trellis Mae started watching the metal foul pole as it swayed back and forth in the wind. Soon she felt nauseated.

"Wilbur, I'm seasick," she said.

"But nobody ever got seasick at a baseball game—it's impossible."

"Well, I am. It must be because I didn't eat. You'd better go get me a hot dog or you'll be awfully sorry."

Wilbur went. A great roar rose from the crowd a moment later. When Wilbur scrambled back, the red-nosed man said: "Johnny Mize just poked one into the stands—a good one."

"You mean," said Wilbur brokenly, "I missed the only chance of my life to see Mize knock a homerun?"

"I missed it myself. Your wife was bending my ear."

"It went right in front of us," said Trellis Mae. "You could almost count the stitches."

She took the hot dog and objected, "You forgot the mustard, dear. I just can't eat it without mustard."

Too stunned to protest, Wilbur went back for the mustard. The Dodger fan leaned over and whispered something to Trellis Mae. She looked surprised, then nodded.

Trellis Mae ate her hot dog, then pulled out a sheet of paper and silently began to make out her Christmas shopping list. She never even looked out again at the playing field.

As they filed out at the end of the game the red-nosed man grudgingly drew a bill from his pocket and put it in her hand.

"I'll bet you don't even know who won," said Wilbur glumly.

"I did."

"You did?"

"Sure," said Trellis Mae, "that red-nosed fellow bet me $5 I couldn't keep my mouth shut for the rest of the game. Wait here a minute, Wilbur."

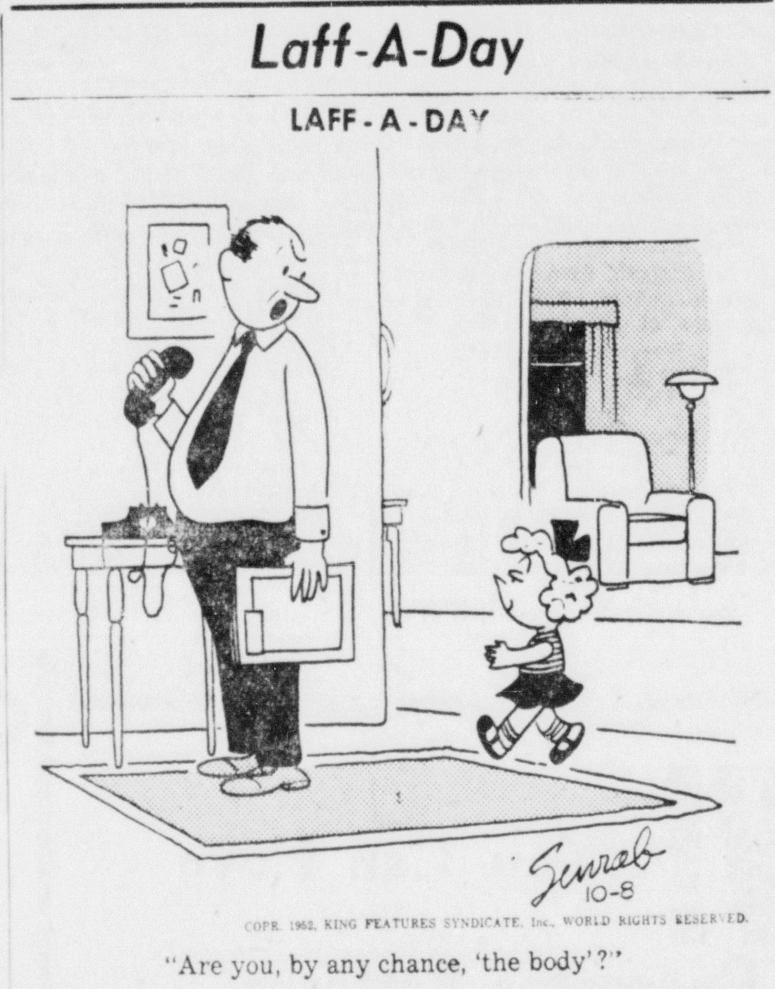

She looked away and returned 15 minutes later breathlessly lug-ging a ball bat.

"He didn't want to give it to me at first," said Trellis Mae, "but I told him he would need a new one next year anyway."

Surprised, her husband took the bat, then reverently read the inscription: "To Wilbur, one to remember. (signed) Johnny Mize."

As Wilbur gratefully bent to kiss her, Trellis Mae murmured:

"I tried to get you one of those little white pillows for a souvenir, too, but some darned fool had tied them all down."

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
People with serious heart trouble are now being helped by powdered resins. There are chemicals related to the plastics, such as nylon. These special resins have the ability of picking up and holding certain substances in the intestines so they cannot be absorbed into the body.

Importance to Patient
Why is this so important to the heart patient? In certain types of heart failure, the heart is too weak to force the proper amount of blood to the lungs and through the body. Blood and other fluids then begin to back up in the blood vessels, and much fluid accumulates in the organs. This can occur in the lungs, liver, abdomen and legs. The legs and organs become extremely swollen and waterlogged, a condition known as edema.

Much of the waterlogging will disappear, it is believed, if the person cuts down his intake of salt—or sodium, found in salt. However, it is very difficult for a person to cut out enough sodium just by leaving salt out of his diet.

Absorption Limited
Other methods have therefore been devised to do this for him, including the use of the drugs known as exchange resins. Taken by mouth, they limit the amount of sodium absorbed by the intestines, and help prevent excess fluids in the tissues.

This does not mean that a person with heart trouble can now eat all the salt he wants. He must still restrict it as much as possible in his diet.

This method of treatment is usually best in severe types of heart failure. Many times, however, mercury injections into the muscles have to be given along with the resin to help get rid of the excess fluid.

The resin is usually taken after meals. It has an unpleasant taste, but is usually not too bad if taken with fruit juice. In a few cases it may cause severe nausea and vomiting with irritation of the rectum and bowel. In addition, it is not given to a person with poor kidneys.

Doctor's Care
Anyone receiving this drug must be watched carefully by his physician so he can check both the heart disease and any complaints before they get beyond control. And, of course, this drug must be taken only under the direction of a physician.

Adlai's Frankness Is Refreshing

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8—A novel and refreshing form of frankness in a presidential candidate has been exhibited by Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson in answering the question of how his "decisions and actions," if he becomes President of the United States, it is doubtful if this kind of query was ever submitted to a White House aspirant in the past.

They have been asked to give their views on prices and wages, foreign affairs, tariff and trade problems and on many other earthly issues. As a result of the Nixon affair, they are now making public the amounts of their income, their taxes and their acceptance of political contributions before and after taking office. Television has brought their voices, their faces and their mannerisms into millions of homes.

In view of these developments, which may result in a record turnout in the November election, only FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's "most wanted criminal" and "Public Enemy No. 1" will be more widely advertised than the two men who seek the highest office in the land.

Nevertheless, this pre-election examination of a nominee's conscience and deepest personal beliefs establishes a precedent in American politics.

LEGITIMATE — Stevenson admitted that he had certain qualms about answering the question when it was submitted to him by the enterprising "Episcopal Churchmen," a weekly publication of Richmond, Va. But, in an indirect challenge to his opponent, he came to the conclusion that "it is a legitimate inquiry in judging any man's fitness for public office."

"I have always believed," he added, "that a man's personal religious beliefs had no proper place in our political life, except as they may influence his public acts and thus affect the public welfare."

Now that the Democratic nominee has fixed the pattern, whether he did it deliberately or not, current and future candidates for the presidency may be expected to unburden their souls.

RESOURCE — In his amazing declaration, Stevenson leaves no doubt of his belief that "religious faith remains our greatest national resource." In his opinion, it is the "ultimate foundation beneath the strength and security of the Republic," surpassing in importance "our wealth, our productive ingenuity and our arms."

He then applied the influence of "religious faith" directly to the problems of politics and government, continuing:

"We think that, in the tasks of government as in all other aspects of life, it is incumbent upon us not only to serve righteousness—the good, the ideal—but at times to take risks for it."

"Gilbert Chesterton once said," Stevenson goes on, "that 'if our statesmen were visionaries, something practical might be done.' In our American vocabulary, we are afraid of that word 'visionary.'"

"But in the sense that Chesterton used it, in the sense of the vision to see the wise course and to follow it, we pray that our leaders shall be blessed with it, because we know that 'where there is no vision, the people perish.'"

The Democratic nominee concluded by citing a biblical passage which he quoted in his acceptance address at Chicago.

"In my public life," he said, "I have tried always to follow the rule laid down 2,500 years ago by the Prophet Micah: 'To do justly, mer of any recent year."

Sara Terhune Is Complimented On Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Terhune honored their daughter, Sara, Saturday evening at a "Blue Jean Party" and included sixty-five of her young teen-age friends which honored her thirteenth birthday anniversary.

The young guests who are classmates in the eighth grade at Washington C. H. High School and a few additional friends enjoyed dancing to recordings in spacious garage and contests in recreation room both profusely decorated with blue and gold streamers.

The honor guest opened her lovely array of gifts at a beautifully decorated table in the prevailing color scheme.

Several awards were presented in the gay round of contests and following dancing the guests were served refreshments of hot dogs, cider, popcorn and apples.

Garden Club Council Meets To Plan Events

The regular luncheon meeting of the Garden Club Presidents council was held Monday at the Hotel Washington Coffee Shop, with Mrs. Glenn Smith contact chairman, presiding.

The usual reports were heard and a detailed report on the Fall Flower Show was also given.

Committees for the coming year were named as follows: Secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Ed Hidy; centennial, Mrs. P. C. Harlow, Mrs. Jess White and Mrs. Glen L. Davis, Jr.; radio, Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes, Mrs. Arthur Schlichter and Mrs. Ancil Creamer.

A county meeting was planned for early November, and the annual Christmas Party was discussed which will include the Home Demonstration Clubs in the county and names were drawn for displays in which all clubs in the county will participate and they are: Party favors, Fayette; Corsages, Twin Oaks; a mantle or piano arrangement, Busy Bee; Christmas tea table arrangement, Buckeye; gifts from the garden Marilee; table trees, Washington; window decorations, Town and Country and Pic-Fay and Nativity, Posy.

The next meeting was set for November 3. Members present were Mrs. Wilbur D. Hoppes of Twin Oaks, Mrs. Arthur Schlichter of Posy, Mrs. A. H. Inderrieden and Mrs. Ed Hidy of Washington, Mrs. Jess White and Mrs. John Rowland of Marilee, and Mrs. Glenn Smith, contact chairman.

The Fayette Garden Club members will open their new calendar year at a meeting on Friday, October 19 at 2 P. M. at the home of Mrs. J. M. Allemang in Bloomingtonburg.

Included in the interesting program will be papers "Garden Information for October" by Mrs. Lester Dodd and "Bulbs for Spring Beauty" by Mrs. Harry M. Bush.

A bulb exchange will be an added feature to the meeting and those wishing transportation are asked to contact Mrs. C. R. Shoemaker, Phone 44412.

Mammals are believed to be the descendants of ancient reptiles whose ancestors lived in the sea.

Four Hostesses Entertain At Bridal Shower

Mrs. William Garringer nee Harriett Penwell of Greenfield, a recent bride, was honored at a miscellaneous shower, Saturday evening held in Wayne Hall, Good Hope with Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. Joseph Daugherty, Mrs. Bruce A. King, Sr. and Mrs. Virgil Bruce as the group of hostesses.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the honor guest opened her lovely array of gifts at one long table centered with a miniature bride and groom over which a sprinkling can was suspended using a color scheme of green and yellow.

Pictures of the recent bride opening her gifts were taken and will serve as a pleasant reminder of the occasion.

Guests wrote favorite recipes and household hints for the honor guest, and contest winners, Mrs. Herbert Hoppes, Mrs. Clarence Thomas, Mrs. Francis Osborne and Mrs. Emerald Sollars, presented their prizes to Mrs. Garringer.

Refreshments served later carried out the predominating color scheme.

Guests included were: Miss Norma Everhart, Mrs. Joy Smith, Mrs. Marie Lawwell, Mrs. Lawrence Countryman, Mrs. Ray Everhart, daughter, Evelyn, Mrs. Laverne McBee, daughter, Judy, Mrs. Ada Simmons, daughters Shirley and Beverly, Mrs. Eli Countryman, Mrs. James F. 30 Home Demonstration Leaders From 6 Counties in Meeting Here

SIX OF THE 30 HOME DEMONSTRATION leaders from this district of six south central Ohio counties discuss the agenda for Tuesday's all-day meeting here. They are (seated left to right) Mrs. Richard Hume, Madison County; Mrs. John Sheeley, Fayette County; and Miss Marie Walters of Columbus, assistant state home demonstration leader, and (standing) Mrs. Wayne Woodyard, Fayette County's home demonstration agent; Miss Inger Hansen, an international exchange student from Denmark; and Mrs. Elmer White, Clinton County. (Record-Herald photo)

The Ohio Home Demonstration Council, district 10, a part of co-operative extension work in agriculture and home economics, held an all-day meeting Tuesday in the Farm Bureau auditorium.

The Fayette County officers, Mrs. Lewis Parrett, Mrs. Joe Alleman, Mrs. Donald Denen, Mrs. John Sheeley and Miss Louise Ritter acted as hostesses during the registration and get acquainted coffee time.

Mrs. Elmer White, Clinton County, the district president, welcomed the group and presided over the business meeting. She introduced the assistant state home demonstration leader, Miss Marie Walters from Ohio State University and the home demonstration agent and members from each county.

Miss Walters opened the morning session with her discussion called "From the Ground Up." She visualized her discussion with cutouts depicting individual women working together in the home demonstration clubs. She explained that two women from each club meet together to form the county home demonstration council.

THE DISTRICT HOME council was next formed by combining the district officers from a group of counties. Fayette County is grouped with Ross, Pickaway, Clinton, Franklin and Madison to form district 10. The officers for district 10 are chosen on a rotating basis and Mrs. John Sheeley of Fayette County is district vice president for 1952-1953.

There are 15 districts in Ohio whose officers form the Ohio Home Demonstration Council. The National Home Demonstration Council is meeting in Raleigh, N. C., in October with 45 Ohio women attending.

The worldwide group, Association of Home Demonstration Agents, presented as a skit by "Mrs. Wouldn't You" and "Mrs. Ida Wanda." The parts were taken by Mrs. Lester Ellis and Mrs. Herbert Bowermaster of Clinton County. What, Why, When, Where and Who were the 5 W's presented in discussing the meaning and method of home demonstration work.

FOUR FAYETTE County women, Mrs. Lewis Parrett, Miss Louise Ritter, Mrs. John Sheeley and Mrs. Olive Woodyard, presented the public relations committee's report as outlined by the Ohio Home Demonstration Council.

Mrs. J. B. Stevenson of Pickaway County, discussed the "Wider Horizons of Home Demonstration Work" including the projects "Associated Country Women of the World, The International Farm Youth Exchange and Pen Friends."

Mrs. Joe Hock, Madison County, and Mrs. James Irwin, Ross County, gave a discussion of the Minnie Price Scholarship Fund through which the Ohio home demonstration clubs offer a college scholarship to a girl interested in majoring in home economics.

AFTER A LUNCHEON at Anderson's Drive In, the afternoon session was opened with a panel discussion considering "The Responsibility of Home Demonstration Council Women."

Mrs. Richard Hume, Miss Helen

Stahl, Mrs. John Sheeley, Mrs. Lewis Parrett, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, Mrs. Emerson Jones, Mrs. Elmer White and Mrs. Harold Streitenberger were members of the panel discussing:

"The County Home Demonstration Council," "Committees and Their Functions," "Alumnae Home Demonstration Councils" and "Suggested Procedures in Home Demonstration Work."

The 30 women present were interested in talking with Miss Inger Hansen, international farm exchange student from Denmark. Miss Hansen is in America on a six-month exchange student visa.

She is staying at present in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stevenson of Pickaway County. She has been teaching home economics in Denmark and is observing teaching, 4-H and Extension Service methods in the United States.

Miss Hansen spoke to the group at the afternoon session, giving them an inside picture of life in Denmark and of her impressions of life in the United States.

Greenfield Gets Warning From State

F. H. Waring, chief sanitary engineer of the Ohio Department Health, has notified Greenfield to expand its sewage disposal system so pollution of Paint Creek will be eliminated.

Investigation disclosed that the stream has been badly polluted and following complaints, the warning was issued.

The state on August 19 granted a 12-month extension to the town to do something about the situation.

Greenfield's council is planning submission of a bond issue to finance enlarging the disposal plant by installing a secondary treatment addition.

Three Will Attend Democrat Dinners

Three Fayette Countyans will be among some 500 Democrats who attend the annual Jefferson-Jackson Dinner at the Deshler Wallick Hotel, in Columbus Wednesday night, where the cost is $50 per plate.

The three are Attorney and Mrs.

R. M. Winegardner and Postmaster W. E. Passmore.

After cost of the dinner is deducted from the $50 charged per plate, 50 percent of the funds go to the state democratic treasury, and 50 percent to the national.

The main speaker at the banquet will be Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, Democratic candidate for vice president.

Bowling Record Here Broken by Carl Noon

Carl Noon, the "old reliable" of bowling, broke the records at Bowling Tuesday night when he smacked the maples for a three-game total of 701.

Rolling in the No. 3 slot with Bob's Dry Cleaners team, he put together games of 229, 255 and 217 for the highest three-game score ever racked up on the alleys out on the CCC Highway.

Noon does not carry his age pinned on his shirt, but he's one of the oldest bowlers here, although his smooth swing and easy stride belie his years.

That 701 was not just an accident: scores of 200 and better are common for him. He has physical coordination of a natural athlete. Back in his younger days, he was one of the best baseball players hereabouts. He was a fleet-footed outfielder for the Athletics and a reliable hitter.

Charles Favored Over Reynolds

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8.—(P)—Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati, still hopeful of being the first man ever to regain a once-lost heavyweight boxing championship, tries again Wednesday night to get started back on the trail to a title bout.

Charles will meet Bernie Reynolds of Fairfield, Conn., in a 12-round nationally televised bout in Cincinnati Gardens at 10 p. m. The 25-year-old Reynolds has 30 knockouts among his 52 victories but he has been an in-and-outter and the betting boys made Charles a solid favorite at 2 to 1.

Cole Is Recalled To Aid Brownies

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8.—(P)—Coach Paul Brown, getting his Cleveland gridders ready for Sunday's key game against the New York Giants, has rehired Emerson Cole and put Rex Bumgardner on waivers.

Bumgardner, a 193-pound left halfback, suffered a shoulder separation during the exhibition season and was benched the first two games. Cole, a 215-pounder who formerly played for the University of Toledo, had been put on

Big Yank Assets: Mantle, Wheels In Stengel's Head

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(P)—Two main conclusions may be drawn from the World Series which ended Tuesday with Brooklyn in mourning for the sixth time.

The first is that Mickey Mantle, a 20-year-old from Oklahoma, is destined to become recognized within a few more seasons as the greatest baseball player in the history of the game. The kid can't miss. There's no defense against him.

The second, equally inescapable, is that Casey Stengel, the bemused manager of the New York Yankees, gets advance information from the elves before he makes each move. It would be difficult to prove that he isn't the smartest pilot the game has seen. His coaches are convinced that he is.

Jeff Tigers Win Last Baseball Game

Jeffersonville High School's Tigers got revenge Tuesday evening as they beat Bowersville, 6 to 5, in the last baseball game of the fall season for Jeffersonville.

The Tigers ended the season with six wins and two defeats. Bowersville had defeated them earlier in the season. Jeffersonville lost its other game to Jamestown.

Coppock was the winning hurler, as he struck out four and issued four free passes. The losing twirler, Hussey, fanned ten and walked four.

Coe was the leading hitter for Jeffersonville and Bock got the most hits for Bowersville.

Village Mourns Passing Of Lad

AUGUSTA, W. Va., Oct. 8.—This little community in Eastern West Virginia Tuesday paid its last respects to Johnny Parks, plucky 11-year-old brain tumor victim who celebrated his birthday early because of approaching death.

Doctors failed in three operations to arrest his condition, then said there was little chance Johnny would live until his birthday, Nov. 13. Hundreds of greeting cards and gifts were sent to the boy before he died Sunday.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is LONG FELLOW ANYDLBAAXR
One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
